The funeral of Mrs. Charlotte DeWitt, who died in Brattleboro after a lingering illness, was held at the Congregational church on Wednesday afternoon, Revs. N. S. Moore and F. M. Wiswall officiating. Two favorite hymns were rendered by C. L. Hescock with Mrs. F. L. Osgood, organist. Banks of beautiful Osgood, organist. Banks of beautiful floral tributes were arranged by near relatives and other friends. The bearers were Veterans M. R. Pratt and H. A. Carpenter, J. M. Kenny, representing the savings bank, and W. B. Park, son of pagents contemporary with Me. Carpenter, J. M. Kenny, representing the savings bank, and W. B. Park, son of parents contemporary with Mr. and Mrs. Austin Birchard, whose second daughter was Mrs. DeWitt, widow of Rollin C. DeWitt of Elyria, Ohlo. The Birchard family was notably patriotic, and for the son, Sardis, who gave his life at Andersonville. Birchard post is named. The Woman's Relief corps, of which Mrs. DeWitt was a member, was represented by members from this place and one, Mrs. Miles, of Townshend, and by a pillar of white roses with "W. R. C." in purple. Four stalwart sons were present. Rollin B., John C., Frank A. and DeWese P. DoWitt, with the wives of the three married ones, the brandchildren. Ruth and Arthur DeWitt, and warm personal friends from Brattleboro, Townshend and Newfane. The last of an old family has thus passed away—a family of much individuality. Mrs. DeWitt made a brave fight for life. She was a very interesting woman, having traveled much and possessing fluent conversational powers. She had a love for Newfane and was sure, as long as strength held out to do so, to end her travels by long visits in this place.

Synopsis of a letter taken two years and a half after first treatment:

Vergennes, Vt., Mar. 16. Dr. Merrow:

Dear Friend:—I just arrived home and found your letter. It was the first of August, 1904, that I came to your office to receive my first course of medicine. You had written me before that I must begin my treatment at once. When I came to you I was suffering from inflammation of the ovaries, prolapsus and retroversion, also diabetes maletus. Every month I suffered through thelower part of my abdomen and back, also headache. My complexion was bad, skin rough and I bloated a great deal, but today I am perfectly well. I tried patent medicine and the dectors of the family and had council to no avail until I came to you and cannot say too much in your praise and at any time shall be glad to answer any inquiry in regard to my case.

I am your friend.

Dr. J. W. Merrow:—
Dear Sir:—Your kind favor of recent date at hand and I trust you will pardon me for not answering sooner. No doubt I scemed very ungrateful for not making a reply after you had done so much for me but Doctor, do not think so for one minute for I cannot find words to tell you how much I thank you for what you have done for me. If it had not been for you. I think I should now be in an asylum for the insane or filling a suicide's grave for I had about given up hope that I could ever be cured, but thanks to you and your wonderful treatment, I am now enjoying good health. 'I weigh 174 pounds and when I commenced to take your treatment I weighed only 160 pounds. My reason for not writing you sooner was that I wanted to be positively sure that I was cured before I told you. I wish you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year and my most sincere wish is that you may live long and happy and may God bless you and your wonderful work. White River Junction, Vt., Dec. 9.

Your ever grateful friend. GEORGE H. MORSE.
